Just put one foot in front of the other by Carol Stobie

I used to see no point in 'going for a walk'. I'd never simply take myself out for a wander, and though I got into hillwalking once I met my second husband, my objective was never the Highland or Lake District panoramic views we'd achieve from the top - though okay, I appreciated them and took lots of photos! For me, it was always about good company and an extended, satisfying blether on the way. Not to mention heading straight to a cosy rural pub with a log fire and good beer afterwards, for further blethers. It's true I could feel lots of endorphins coursing round my body, my head clearer and all sorts of benefits to the exercise I'd had, but it was never my objective.

Lockdown changed everything. That one daily permissible lunchtime walk with my home-learning son was a life-saver, a break I had to commit to in the midst of multiplying workload. A joy to breathe, chat, roam the beach or park, maybe post a birthday card. It did me all sorts of good. Now he's back at school, it takes more self-discipline, but I'm trying.

If you're anything like me, walking in company is a more motivating. But we know fine we'll feel all the better for even a solo walk, slowing down, spotting nature, taking that deep breath. Doesn't matter if it's only for five minutes down the block. We'll not regret it. Need evidence? I found some here for you.

- ⇒ 71% of people experienced a decrease in levels of depression after going out for a walk.
- ⇒ Doing a little exercise like walking is scientifically proven to make us happier.
- ⇒ 94% said that 'green exercise' like walking, gardening/conservation work improved their mental health.

Need help getting yourself out there? That's where we come in. We recently got several Community Connections volunteers trained with Paths for All as Buddy Walkers, ready to risk-assess a suitable route for anyone of any fitness level, qualified and insured to accompany you as you build up your walking routine and regain physical confidence after a tough winter. The new guidelines allow a few Buddy Walking pairs to meet up and walk together - and why not go for coffee afterwards? I might just see you there!

Cartoon: Buddy Walks - by Carol Stobie

Villages Outreach - As mentioned in the last newsletter, we are now making the effort to reach out to coastal villages and offer support wherever local groups or individuals are finding their own solutions to tackling social isolation. Many are motivated by the massive resilient efforts of last year and want to continue their involvement. We're talking to folk in Aberlady, Gullane and Dirleton, where exciting plans are afoot.

Maybe you've thought about developing a drop-in coffee session, Buddy Walks, a local newsletter or something completely different? It needs to be shaped by the folk in your own community, not led by us, but we can meet with you to share our experiences, lend a helping hand and maybe even support in a tangible way in the future. We are also always open to recruiting and training new volunteers from across the areas to take forward our work. If you live in other parts of North Berwick Coastal Ward and would like to have that kind of conversation, please get in touch with Carol.

PRIZE DRAW CONGRATULATIONS - Thank you very much to everyone who completed our recent Project Evaluation Survey and took part in the Prize Draw. We are happy to announce the five winners of £20 NB High Street vouchers are Christine Atkins, Liz Martin, Jenny Kellock, Linda Digney and Sheila Williamson.

National Volunteers' Week, 1st to 7 June 2021

To demonstrate just how much we value the quietly incredible behind-the-scenes work of our volunteers, here is a mention of just a few of this extraordinary team. We now have around 50 active volunteers supporting around the same number of members in various ways, particularly with telephone befriending, also helping with practical tasks, deliveries and newsletter work. They have to undergo a rigorous application process, Disclosure Checks, our Volunteer Training course and, in many cases, they have opted for extra training on Buddy Walks leading, mental health, dementia, etc. We have monthly online meetings and seek their views on how our work develops, as with the recent Project Evaluation Survey which many of you completed.

One special example of a Star Volunteer is Dorothy Kirkpatrick, who came up with the idea of the Scone Café at Abbey Church Hall, which ran very successfully from summer 2019 to spring 2020 and the unavoidable suspension of all gatherings. Who can say for sure if her amazing scones were the secret of our success? It's possible... though making friends, playing cards, enjoying occasional talks and workshops and hearing about opportunities to try out other new local activities might have had something to do with it as well. We hope it will be possible to revive Scone Café, in a covid-safe way, by this Autumn - our volunteers will be the key to that, as ever!

Carol and Lisa B would like to say a heartfelt thank you to Alex Graham and Peter Keeling, who volunteered as befrienders with us over the past year and have contributed enormously to the well-being of members they supported. They are each now moving onto new challenges and adventures, but we send them our warmest wishes for the future - you cannot imagine how much you have contributed to this project, Alex and Peter!

A Farewell North Berwick and Hello from Gourock, by Alex Graham

Hi Carol,

Here we are, on the top of Tower Hill Park where we've joined a group of regular dog walkers — you can just see a couple of them behind us with their dogs Dougal and Star. Missy's owner is taking the photo and Jura's owner is a lovely lady I knew 35 years ago, and we met up again here a couple of weeks ago! She recognised me, it took me a few more seconds to recognise her! But we now meet up most days with the gang and so it's been great catching up on news about people I used to know and getting to know new people and their lovely dogs.

It feels very much that I've finally come home to where I belong, and I'm very much looking forward to seeing my daughter and granddaughter at the end of May — the English half-term. And with Lockdown easing, the town is beginning to open again as I'm sure it is where you are. Such a small thing, to sit down and have a coffee and a blether with friends — and that's just what the Scone Cafe offered.

I enjoyed the company of lovely people at those weekly gatherings, enhanced by Dorothy's scones! The coffee dates were just getting off the ground when the first Lockdown put an end to socialising. But with more and more of us being vaccinated, and the welcome easing of the most recent lockdown, many people will be looking forward to getting together again over a cuppa and for those newcomers to NBCCC, have that to look forward to. To those who know me, I will miss you, and I thank you for your care and friendship, but home is where the heart is and my heart is here, in Gourock. With Love and Best Wishes from Alex and Florrie XXXXXX

A Farewell from Peter Keeling

Hi Carol,

Thanks for your very kind email and words which are greatly appreciated.

Reflecting on your thoughts about the volunteering process, for me it was all about giving rather than receiving and through that everyone feels better about everything! I would also say that it is about getting to know your befriendee and developing a friendship.

Your enthusiasm in keeping us all motivated is excellent and I am sure that Community Connections will go from strength to strength.

Thanks for allowing me to be a small part of the team and very best wishes going forward

Kind Regards Peter

North Berwick in Bloom Sunflower Challenge

Sunflowers are stunning flowers which always bring a smile. Their bright yellow colour and the way they turn their heads towards the sun have led to lots of myths and legends about them but mostly, they are associated with good luck. Their colourful petals can be used to colour food and fabric and they have been used in traditional medicine to try and cure malaria or ward off smallpox. If you are feeling a bit down you can add some of the yellow petals to your bath water and it is said that this can cheer you up.

North Berwick in Bloom and North Berwick gardening club are running their sunflower challenge again this year. Over 200 sunflower seeds and seedlings will be given away to anyone who would like to join in and it is very easy to grow your own. The seeds can be planted in a pot or straight into the soil. They germinate in about 10 days and need to be kept in a light sunny place and given plenty of water.

There are full instructions on the NBIB website and competitions for the tallest, largest and best picture of 'sunflowers in my garden'. There is also a prize for the best crafted sunflower if you prefer knitting or painting.

All of the instructions and further details on how to join in are on the North Berwick in Bloom website http://nbib.org.uk/aboutus/ourevents

Community Connections - Carers Week 7th-13th June 2021

We like to give a shout out to all carers in this issue. We know that many of our volunteers and members are, or have been, unpaid carers for others who could not do without them. We realise it's difficult for carers to take time out, but we want to send all you carers (and former carers) our love, admiration and appreciation, and hope you know the we are only too glad to offer you our services wherever you can make use of them. For some of you, we may be able to take the person you care for out for a walk or coffee, so that you can take a little space for yourself. It might be something you're not used to doing, but if it's safe and possible for us to arrange that together, please consider how much good it might do you.

I want to highlight one of our most treasured and beloved volunteers, much too modest to speak on her own behalf. CF got involved with Community Connections as a result of Carol's visit to the Carers of East Lothian peer support group for carers. She started attending our drop-in Scone Café for her own needs, after years of devoted caring at home (which can often lead to a sense of isolation), and soon it became clear she had lots of potential as a brilliant volunteer, with thoughtful contributions to make at volunteer meetings and suggestions for how we could improve our service. At the height of Scone Café, just before lockdown, CF was skilfully leading a team of volunteers to run it without staff help. Since then, although her health has not allowed her to get out much, she has been a vital telephone befriender for two of our members, regularly submitting updates on their well-being. A carer of epic additional talents. We thank her from the bottom of our hearts.

Bass Rock Community Group

Some of Community Connection volunteers are also members of the newly formed Bass Rock Community Group.

We are a group of volunteers who have formed to do 'hands on' work in the Community. Seven of the group are Rotarians who have left the traditional club and are now Rotarians through the Rotary Global Hub. There are many ways in this modern age to be a Rotarian! Some of the volunteers will join Rotary in July 1st this year. We are very much family orientated and would love to welcome others to join us either as a Rotarian or a volunteer.

The photos above show our litter pick this week but the Facebook page shows what we have managed to do so far with the Covid restrictions in place. Over the next few months we will be working with various groups throughout the town improving the environment for all to enjoy.

Please find us and like our Facebook page. If you are interested in this group please contact Liz Martin initially lizmartin@sky.com or message us via Facebook.

June Wildlife Watch by Ruth Fraser

Summer has arrived! Butterflies are now abundant, breeding seabirds are back and early summer flowers are in full bloom. It's the month to enjoy the longer days and to see what wildlife you can spot when out and about...

Burnet moth—Scotland is home to a number of moths that are active during the day and many of them rival butterflies for their colour and beauty. A species you might encounter on a summer's walk is the six-spot burnet. Its striking black and red colouration this time of year the island is absolutely teaming with sea life! From the shore it's hard to make out all the species living on the rock, but either using binoculars from the beach or if you're lucky enough to get closer via boat trips or paddling boarding, you will see thousands of sea birds (e.g. puffins, razorbills and cormorants) and a group of seals making the rock their home!

North Berwick Youth Project, Beth Smith

At the start of the month we were very lucky to have quite a few days of sun which was great because we were still doing outdoor youth work. Friday after school club has been very popular. We meet the young people outside of school and head to Law View Park for a picnic lunch then spend the rest of the afternoon playing games such as rounders and hide and seek. Thankfully over the last two weeks we have been allowed to start indoor youth work again, which has worked out perfectly now that it feels like winter again! We have also been busy planning our Summer Holiday Programme which includes lots of exciting trips such as Blair Drummond Safari Park, Edinburgh Dungeons and Foxlake.

Scottish Seabird Centre

Get back to nature and indulge your love of wildlife at the Scottish Seabird Centre this summer.

In 2021, Scotland continues to celebrate its coasts and waters with a programme of activities and events which will shine a spotlight on these vital elements of the surrounding landscape. As part of the Year of Coasts and Waters, the Scottish Seabird Centre will host its first ever Marine Fest to raise awareness of the diversity of Scotland's marine environment and wildlife and the pressures facing them.

With a host of exciting partners, a series of outdoor and on-line events have been planned between 31 May and 13 June 2021.

The Centre's stunning coastal location, overlooking the Firth of Forth islands, allows unparalleled access to the sea, coast and beaches. The surrounding waters and islands are of international portance for their habitats and wildlife, including the world's largest Northern gannet colony (Bass Rock). Marine Fest will make full use of this setting, including a mile of golden sand and rockpools full of fascinating wildlife. Outdoor activities will be supplemented by digital events which will be accessible to those unable to physically visit the Centre. Events include rock pooling, guided walks, citizen science, art, crafts, and interactive science shows.

Incorporating World Environment Day (5 June 2021) and World Ocean Day (8th June 2021), they will also explore the threats to the marine environment and steps people can take to help.

All of the events must be prebooked and the full programme is available on their website.

North Berwick Community Council

The North Berwick Community Council is made up of 12 volunteers who live or work in North Berwick. The main purpose of the Community Council is to find out the views and wishes of the community and clearly express them to the Local Authority or other relevant organisations while taking a view on what is best for the community as a whole.

NBCC is currently operating via zoom in line with the covid19 restrictions. We meet on the first Tuesday of every month at 730pm. If you wish to attend, please email our secretary, Kathryn Smith, for the zoom details. At the moment, we are looking into whether or not it will be possible to hold the Calder and Crawford

Cup competitions this year. We had to cancel last year's event which was a huge blow as it was the centenary year for the Calder Cup. We are tentatively hopeful that this year's putting competition can go ahead. We are also looking into possible options to make the skate park more user friendly. Please get in touch if you have any suggestions of would like to get involved. Secretary@northberwickcommunitycouncil.org.uk

It's a huge responsibility, and it's thanks to these behind-the-scenes volunteers that we have achieved charitable status, gained our own bank account, managed the transition to independence from our origins with the Health and Well Being Association and Carers of East Lothian, recruited our new Befriending Coordinator, established a paid Newsletter Editor position, put the best safeguarding procedures into place, gained local press coverage, created our latest flyer, built new partnerships and embarked on a major funding application for future project security - amongst many other achievements since they began last June! We salute you all here, with enormous thanks.
